MOKO WOOD is a bench, that draws on the ergonomics of the most classical park benches, but revisiting their shapes in a modern key. The seat, shaped as a wave, and the back are composed by exotic wood profiles. These profiles are supported by steel profiles that have the same length but different width (20 mm, 40 mm, 80 mm) matching the curves and the lines of the bench, lying to perfection in every single spot and making the seat absolutely comfortable. Two steel lateral legs at the extremes of the bench close the structure, supporting the profiles and anchoring it to the ground.

Max dimensions:
